PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Protecting the "Privilege" to Fly

First, I would like to thank you for selecting me to be your President for 2006. I am proud to serve with a very competent group of officers including Beth Tetreault (VP), Marilyn Biagetti (CS), Dan Scanlon (Treas) and Korrie LaBrie (RS). There are also a number of other people who work behind the scenes to make this a great organization, such as our Activities Chair – Rene Cardon and Frank Oliveira Web master. Serving as VP last year, I have gotten to know most of you, and I am looking forward to a great year.

One of the things that makes RIPA such an important organization, in addition to being a "social club," is that it is the loudest voice for General Aviation in Rhode Island, with over 150 members. Aviation as we know it is going through a very turbulent (no pun intended) time right now, where many of the "privileges" that we have enjoyed since the Wright Brothers days are being taken away. A famous RI aviator named Frank Sherman once said to me that he feels fortunate to have lived through the "glory days" of flying, where there were few restrictions. The key issues at the national level that we need to be aware of that will impact our flying freedoms are airspace restrictions (TFR and ADIZ), user fees, and airport closures. Politics is playing a large role in all of these issues, and we need to use every advantage that we have in a large organization such as RIPA to speak out and fight to maintain these privileges.

As I write this article, all of GA is GROUNDED within the entire 3000 square-mile footprint of the Washington Class B airspace for President Bush's State of the Union Speech this evening. A 30 nm TFR extending into Canada is anticipated for the weekend's Super Bowl XL game in Detroit. And a 300 nm TFR is being issued on the US southern border for UAV flights. Mayors, Governors and congressional representatives from various states are proposing or at least discussing permanent TFRs to protect their cities, without any specific credible threat. A quick glance at the New York section shows us in a precarious position between the Boston and New York Class-B airspaces, not to mention Philadelphia and Washington DC. As the number of TFR and ADIZ regions grows, our flying privileges are eroded more and more. The only way that we are going to stop this trend is to fight each and every one, as Airplane Owners and Pilots Assn (AOPA) is doing.

Another important issue is the "user fees" that are being proposed as the solution to FAA's budgetary woes. The reality is that GA already pays its fair share of FAA expenses through fuel tax. The nearly bankrupt airlines are trying to get GA to pay more to lower their operating costs. The impact of the proposed user fees (on filing flight plans, flight following, approaches, etc.) on GA could also have devastating consequences, and we have only to look to Europe to see that GA is practically non-existent there. User fees would make general aviation LESS SAFE because pilots would be more apt to not file IFR when weather conditions are marginal. By the same argument, traffic congestion would increase and become less orderly and less safe because fewer pilots would be talking to ATC, to save money. Some pilots say they are opposed to the user fees, but see them as inevitable (see J. Mac McClellan's article "FAA User Fees Coming?" in the January edition of Flying Magazine), and propose "reasonable fees." The problem with that philosophy is that once the cork is out of the bottle, the bureaucrats are free to increase them with little regard to the impact on GA. That is why we need to do everything we can to stop these fees before they are implemented.

We are fortunate to have what I consider a pro-GA quasi-public organization (RIAC) meticulously maintaining and improving our state airports. Some members may begrudge the lack of adequate GA hangars and tiedowns, particularly at PVD. But for the most part, our state airports are meticulously maintained and we are extremely fortunate for that. Other states are not so fortunate, as we witnessed Chicago Meigs Field bulldozed by Mayor Daly in the middle of the night about a year ago. I would be interested in hearing from you on local issues, and how RIPA can work with the powers that be to make General Aviation more safe and affordable for everyone; and most importantly, how together we can protect our privilege to fly.

MEETING MINUTES

Dinner Meeting
January 10, 2006

Bill Weedon, President, called the meeting to order at 7:05 PM at Chelo's Restaurant on Post Road in Warwick, RI. We said the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag, and then observed a moment of silence. After introductions of the RIPA members and guests, a motion to approve the November 2005 RIPA dinner meeting minutes was seconded and passed. The treasurer's report, membership committee report and event committee report were approved as well.

During the dinner meeting, the 2006 RIPA board members were sworn in. The board is as follows:

President: Bill Weedon
Vice President: Beth Tetreault
Corresponding Secretary: Marilyn Biagetti
Treasurer: Dan Scanlon
Recording Secretary: Korrie LaBrie

After the board was sworn in, Jack Keenan, Bill Weedon and Rene Cardon presented the RIPA Airmen of the Year Award to this year's recipient, Dan Scanlon.

Guest Speaker, Tom Lafen - Operations Manger for the Providence Air Traffic Control Tower, provided RIPA members with the latest news from the tower.

The dinner meeting adjourned at 8:55 PM.

Respectfully Submitted, Korrie LaBrie
Recording Secretary

NOTAMS

The board has identified 6 members that may be eligible for the Wright Brothers Master Pilots Award to be presented in June. We are attempting to deliver the applications to Gabe Laurienzo, Tony Rappa, Don Pillsbury, Jay Strauss, Dom Donato and Tony Correia. There will be applications available at the dinner meeting for any others that we may have overlooked.

Applications must be submitted by the end of February. Contact Bill Weedon for information. Last year RIPA and the FAA honored Kenneth A. Brown, Franklin F. Sherman, Eugene A. Bielecki, Lowell Cornell Jr., Norman J. Bishop, Robert G. Danis and Joseph S. Ludovici.

Gene Bielecki will be away from February 8th to the 22nd and March 26 to April 5th. "Please schedule any of the 7 day week.. before.. in between.. or after.. whatever...."

BOARD MEETING

Bill Weedon, Rene Cardon, Dan Scanlon, Frank Oliveira, Paul Carroll and Marilyn Biagetti spend much of the evening discussing ways to increase membership. A good membership base goes a long way when it is time to show strength and unity, as has been demonstrated quite a few times. We are considering maximizing our exposure to students with posters at FBO's and flight schools, hopefully, getting more young pilots involved. We remind members to invite a friend to a dinner meeting; you do not have to be a member to attend.

Rene Cardon has a plan to decrease the expense of the Windsocks and will investigate his idea.

Korrie has informed us that she has a class on Tuesday and will need someone to take notes for the rest of this semester.

Due to a scheduling conflict the February guest speaker has rescheduled to April and Paul Carroll has kindly volunteered to present his trip to New Zealand.

Members are encouraged to visit our Web page at <http://www.RIPilots.com/>. It has been expanding and contains some very useful information.

I remember when sex was safe and flying was dangerous.

A smooth landing is mostly luck: two in a row is all luck;
and three in a row is pure prevarication.

Without ammunition, the USAF would be just another expensive flying club.

HANGAR FLYING

RIPA 2005 AIRMAN OF THE YEAR

Jack Keenan with the FAA presentation for Dan pix/FrankO

Daniel Scanlon earned his pilots license in 1973. He has his Commercial, Multi engine, and Seaplane rating and is a CFII. He holds WINGS XVI. He has around 3000 hours of flight time.

Dan is a member of the Civil Air Patrol with a rating of Captain, doing Search and Rescue training and pilot check rides. A member of Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association and the Quiet Birdmen were he has held all the offices.

He has been an active member of the Rhodes Island Pilots Association for about 20 years, serving as Vice President (1 year), President (2 years) and Treasurer (3 years). Dan is active in committees, and helps with most of the RIPA functions, including dinner meetings, Valentine Day dinner, flyouts, hangar parties, Quonset Point Air Show, Greenville Seaplane flyin, and the Holiday Gala.

Dan presently will be found flying his Archer. He has been the proud owner of a Cessna 152, Cessna 182 and a Cherokee 6.

SAFETY SEMINARS

You are reminded that RIPA Safety Seminars include coffee & donuts and door prizes.

Date & Time: Wednesday, February 22, 7:00 pm

EVENTS

Well the Flying events that were scheduled for January managed to get weathered out. The Mystery flyout for the 14th was domed by Thursday of that week. It has been a strange winter so far; we will see what February brings.

In March, we will be expecting our usual invitation to the St Patrick's Day Breakfast on Block Island.

The Events committee decided that the Mystery Flyouts would be held, barring weather, on the weekend after the dinner meetings so an announcement can be made at the meeting, and Rene informed us that the FLYRI cookouts will commence in May.
